How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with a higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

PIMCO Canada Corp. has rated the volatility of this fund as low. Because this is a new fund, the risk rating is only an estimate by PIMCO Canada Corp. Generally, the rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, see the "What are the Risks of Investing in the Fund?" section of the fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this fund doesn't have any guarantees. You may not get back the money you invest.

How has the fund performed?

This section tells you how Series F units of the fund have performed over the past calendar years. Returns are after expenses have been deducted. These expenses reduce the fund's returns.

Year-by-year returns

This section tells you how the Series F units of the fund have performed. However, this information is not available because the fund is new.

Best and worst 3-month returns

This table shows the best and worst returns for the Series F units of the fund in a 3-month period. However, this information is not available because the fund has been offering Series F units for less than twelve consecutive months.

Average return

This section shows the value and annual compounded rate of return of a hypothetical $1,000 investment in Series F units of the fund. However, this information is not available because the fund is new.

Who is the fund for?

Investors who:

- are looking for a medium to long-term investment
- want a combination of income and growth
- are willing to accept some interest rate risk to achieve moderate capital growth

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F units of the fund. The fees and expenses – including any commissions – can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other series, funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Sales charges – Series F units are no load. That means that there is no payment made by PIMCO Canada to your representative when you buy Series F units of the fund. There is also no sales charge when you redeem or switch Series F units. Your representative may charge you a sales commission or other fee when you buy, switch or redeem Series F units.

2. Fund Expenses You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the fund's returns. The fund's expenses are made up of the management fee, operating expenses and trading costs. The Series F management fee is 0.75% of the Series F value. As this fund is new, operating expenses and trading costs are not yet available.

More about the trailing commission

For Series F units, PIMCO Canada does not pay any trailing commission to your registered representative.

3. Other Fees – You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell or switch units of the fund.

Fee	What you pay
Short-term trading fee	2% if a redemption occurs within 30 days of purchase or switch.
Switch fees	Up to 2% may be charged to you and retained by your representative.
Returned cheques	There will be a $35 fee for Non-Sufficient Fund cheques that are returned if there are insufficient funds in your account to pay for your units.
Fee-for-service account units	Series F units are for investors who are participants in a fee-for-service or wrap account program sponsored by some representatives' firms. You pay a fee to your representative's firm for investment advice and other services.

What if I change my mind?

Under securities law in some provinces and territories, you have the right to:

- withdraw from an agreement to buy mutual funds within two business days after you receive a simplified prospectus or Fund Facts document, or
- cancel your purchase within 48 hours after you receive confirmation of the purchase.

In some provinces and territories, you also have the right to cancel a purchase, or in some jurisdictions, claim damages, if the simplified prospectus, annual information form, Fund Facts document or financial statements contain a misrepresentation. You must act within the time limit set by the securities law in your province or territory.

For more information, see the securities law of your province or territory or ask a lawyer.
